Spring 2012

Spotlight on Scholarships

In the current financial climate it is even more urgent that we seek to support and encourage families who are striving to pay for college, the investment that will pay dividends throughout the lifetime of the graduate. Students are choosing the Universities they will attend based on scholarship programs and financial aid more than ever. Approximately 75% of Pepperdine students receive some form of financial assistance. Scholarships reward high-achievers, make college accessible for many and enable students from a wide range of economic backgrounds to attend Pepperdine. We continue to identify and secure as wide a variety of scholarship opportunities as possible to support the educational goals of our students. This year we have received scholarships from the Bertha and John Garabedian Charitable Foundation, the Ann Peppers Foundation and the Ahmanson Foundation which represent only a few of those who support our students year after year.
