

Pepperdine Headcount Survey

Dear Colleagues:

While we continue to encourage faculty and staff to work remotely, we also need to record an accurate daily headcount of those faculty and staff physically present at our facilities. Because of that, each day you will receive an electronic survey from Pepperdine asking you to record which campus you accessed that day. You do not have to respond to the survey if you did not access a campus. To be clear, this has nothing to do with the University monitoring activity. Rather, it is so that we have an accurate count should we need to provide information to any government or regulatory agencies.

As we continue in the current COVID-19 climate, we anticipate that questions such as these may arise from various agencies. We want to make sure your teaching and working experience is as manageable as possible and appreciate you taking the time to complete this log when you access a campus. Please contact your supervisor if you have any needs that arise.

Thank you for all of your help in this matter, and especially for mitigating the current pedagogical challenges we are facing. We truly appreciate all you are doing for Pepperdine.

Sincerely,

Rick R. Marrs
