

Please join colleagues in a training on how to enforce current COVID-19 health protocols at the University.

COVID-19 Policies Enforcement

Wednesday, September 29, 2021
10–11 AM

Dawn Emrich, Director of Public Safety

While the University follows all public health guidance and measures to prioritize the health of our community, we also have the opportunity and responsibility to help keep one another safe.

This upcoming Wednesday, we will provide guidance on enforcing current COVID-19 protocols, including mask-wearing and weekly screening testing, in a respectful and supportive manner. Dawn Emrich, director of public safety, will present current COVID-19 protocols, best practices for educating others on these protocols, and ways to manage non-compliance. There will be time at the end to answer any related questions or concerns.

As employees, we are all responsible for the quality of the environment and enforcing University policies. Thank you for your assistance and for the many ways you contribute to Pepperdine's mission and community.
