* PLEASE NOTE: *Final exams in upper division required courses will be held in person, on the law school's Malibu campus, under the supervision of proctors. Students enrolled in these courses are solely responsible for being available in person, on the Malibu campus, to take the final exam as scheduled. Students are also solely responsible for the cost of travel, if any, to be in person at the relevant scheduled times. The final exams in upper division required courses will have multiple choice as required by section 6.14.B of the Academic Policy, and, to ensure exam integrity, there is no reasonable alternative to taking the final exam in person, on the Malibu campus, under the supervision of proctors. If a student anticipates any problems with taking the exam in person at the law school, the student should refrain from taking the online course.
