

BLUEBOOK TABBING for the 19th Edition
Professor Butler

The “citation fun” portion of our Legal Research & Writing course is underway. You must learn proper citation because your summer and permanent employers will expect you to know how to do it. You do not have to like it, but you do have to do it. As an incentive, remember that accurate citation form in a document creates a (rebuttable) presumption that care has been taken in drafting the document. And, of course, the opposite is also true.

Many Bluebook users find that tabbing the Bluebook helps them to move more quickly through the process constructing a citation in any given situation. Students who have gone before you recommend that you tab the following sections of your Bluebook:

TABLE OF CONTENTS – p. ix
BLUEPAGES (for a practitioner’s everyday citation needs) – p.3
ABBREV. for COURT DOCUMENTS – p.28
SIGNALS – p. 54
PARENTHETICAL INFORMATION – p.59
SHORT CITATION FORMS – p.72
QUOTATIONS – p.76
ABBREVIATIONS – p.80
CASES – p.87
PRIOR & SUBSEQUENT HISTORY – p. 101
STATUTES – p.111
LEGISLATIVE MATERIALS – p. 126
BOOKS & OTHER NONPERIODIC MATERIAL – p. 138
PERIODICALS – p.147
THE INTERNET, ELECTRONIC, & NONPRINT RESOURCES – p. 164
FEDERAL CITATION – p. 215
CALIFORNIA CITATION – p. 231
ABBREV. within CASE NAMES – p. 430
ABBREV. for COURT NAMES – p. 432
EXPLANATORY PHRASES – p. 434
ABBREV. for GEOGRAPHIC TERMS – p. 436
ABBREV. of PERIODICALS – p. 444
INDEX – p. 475

GOOD LUCK!