Total estimated additional costs to study abroad for the full year:
ranges from $7,290 - $9,120

Room & Board: $7,740 is equivalent to a freshman residence hall double with a declining balance Extra Meal Plan. For information on meal plans provided in each program, see program manuals on our website.

International Programs Fee (IP Fee): includes round-trip airfare, the Educational Field Trip, orientations, and local excursions. Roundtrip airfare costs for students studying in both fall & spring semesters is $1,220 and is included in the Fall IP Fee; as a result, the Spring IP Fee is $1,220 less. The flight cost for the Washington D.C. Program is $500. If you live outside of California, you can indicate your intent to fly separately from the group when you sign your contract; your airfare will be deducted from the IP Fee.

Local Country Fees: Specific to each program, please see our website for specific information.

PE & Course Fees: Applies to certain courses – see the Seaver Academic Catalog for information.

Personal Abroad Expenses: Personal spending varies by student and program location.

Passport Fee: Varies depending on where you request your passport and how quickly you request to receive it.

Visa Fee: Specific to each program, please see our website for more information.

Costs listed above are relevant for the 2016-2017 academic year. As stated in a student's contract, these costs will likely increase for the 2017-2018 academic year. However, if the tuition or IP Fee increases by more than 10% over the current published cost, students may be released from the terms and conditions of their contract within 30 days of the publication of the new cost.
